

Search of similar structures

Once a promising scaffold is available, we are frequently interested to extend our set and acquire new compounds.

It can be done using the search in the internal HMGU web site (under development), which provides an access to compounds collected from several providers.