Creation of a QSAR model

One of the core functionalities of OCHEM is the possibility to develop QSAR models using a vast variety of state of the art machine learning methods and molecular descriptors. This section gives a brief overview of the model development workflow.